ITEM IDENTIFICATION:

Tuition Fee Schedules for Publicly-Funded Programs, 2019-20

JURISDICTIONAL INFORMATION:

Pursuant to Section 5.11 (a) the Business Board recommends the schedule of tuition fees to Governing Council for approval.

GOVERNANCE PATH:

1. Business Board [for recommendation] (March 18, 2019)
2. Executive Committee [for endorsement and forwarding] (March 26, 2019)
3. Governing Council [for approval] (April 4, 2019)

PREVIOUS ACTION TAKEN:

The Tuition Fee Schedules for Publicly-Funded Programs 2018-19 was approved by the Governing Council at its April 5, 2018 meeting.

HIGHLIGHTS:

On January 17, 2019, the Ontario government announced a 10% cut to domestic tuition fees beginning in 2019-20, and a freeze at that level for 2020-21. The tuition fee reduction applies to all domestic students enrolled in programs that are funded via the provincial operating grant, including direct-entry undergraduate, second-entry and professional master's programs, and doctoral stream programs. Tuition paid by international students is unregulated, and will therefore be unaffected. The announcement represents a reduction of $65 million over 2018-19, and a reduction of $88

million in revenue from previous projections that assumed that the previous tuition framework would remain in place.

The impact of the domestic tuition fee reduction will have a differential impact on each division, depending on program mix and divisional revenue sources. Professional programs in health sciences fields are among those that will experience the most significant reduction. Adjustments to divisional budgets will differ based on local priorities, but will include some combination of changes to faculty and staff hiring plans, deferral of capital projects, service reductions, and operating cost efficiencies. Tuition fees at the University of Toronto are determined in accordance with the University's Tuition Fee Policy, the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students and the Provincial Government's Tuition Framework. The tuition fee policy speaks to five elements: advocacy, fee revenue, fee differentiation, fee level commitment and monitoring. In presenting this tuition schedule, the University reaffirms its commitment to student aid and its accessibility statement:

"No student offered admission to a program at the University of Toronto should be unable to enter or complete the program due to lack of financial means."

A full overview of financial assistance available to students is included in the 2017-18 Annual report on Student Financial Support, which accompanies this report through governance.

Domestic Tuition Fees

Domestic tuition fees will be reduced by 10% as mandated by the Provincial Tuition Framework. Full details on tuition in all programs are given in the schedules that accompany the report. There are some programs in which students move from a first-year general program to a more resource-intensive upper-year specialized program (Commerce, Business Administration, Management, Computer Science, Bioinformatics, Data Science, UTM Visual Studies, Communication, Culture and Information Technology, and Interactive Digital Media). Students pay the Arts and Science fee in first year and then a higher fee in the upper years of these programs. Second year tuition fees in 2020-21 for these programs are submitted for approval in this year's tuition report so as to provide advance notice to first-year students who will be pursuing these programs in second year.

International Tuition Fees

Tuition increases for students entering the tri-campus Arts and Science programs will increase by 7% in 2019-20. Tuition increases for students entering Applied Science and Engineering programs will also increase by 7%. Most other entering and continuing students will see 5% increases. As a result, international tuition fees will increase by an average of 5.4%. In order to provide potential applicants with information for planning purposes, the attached schedules also include preliminary tuition fees for international students for 2020-21.

As of Fall 2018, most international PhD students at the University of Toronto pay tuition fees equivalent to those of domestic students. International students registered in research-stream or professional Master's programs and professional doctoral programs do not follow the domestic tuition fee structure. The standard PhD fee for 2019-20 will be $6,210 after the provincially-mandated fee cut of 10 per cent. The fee for the PhD in Dental Public Health will be reduced to $7,610 and the PhD in Dentistry with Dental Specialty Training will be reduced to $13,861 for 2019-20. International tuition fees for OISE's EdD and Music's DMA will be increased by 5% for 2019-20.

Domestic and international tuition fees are monitored relative to peer institutions within Canada and internationally and results continue to indicate that we remain competitive. Student applications and yield rates are also monitored each year across all programs to ensure that tuition fees are not adversely impacting the University's commitment to high academic standards. Applications from domestic and international students across all programs remain very strong, and in fact are increasing each year.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS:

Revenue projections for publicly-funded programs are included in the Budget Report 2019-20 and Long Range Budget Guidelines 2019-20 to 2023-24. Related information on student aid accompanies this report in the Annual Report on Student Financial Support, 2017-18.

RECOMMENDATION:

Be it Resolved

THAT the following recommendations be endorsed and forwarded to the Governing Council

THAT the 2019-20 tuition fees as described in the Tuition Fee Schedule for Publicly-Funded Programs 2019-20 (February 11, 2019) be approved; and

THAT the tuition fees for 2020-21 for the special programs identified in Tables B2 and C2 of Appendices B and C of the aforementioned report be approved.

Tuition Fees at the University of Toronto

Tuition fees at the University of Toronto are determined in accordance with the University's Tuition Fee Policy (Appendix A1), the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students (Appendix A2) and the Provincial Government's Tuition Framework. In presenting this tuition schedule, the University reaffirms its commitment to student aid and its accessibility statement:

“No student offered admission to a program at the University of Toronto should be unable to enter or complete the program due to lack of financial means.”

The Provincial Tuition Framework 2019-20 to 2020-21

On January 17, 2019, the Ontario government announced a 10% cut to domestic tuition fees beginning in 2019-20, and a freeze at that level for 2020-21. The tuition fee reduction applies to all domestic students enrolled in programs that are funded via the provincial operating grant, including direct-entry undergraduate, second-entry and professional master's programs, and doctoral stream programs. Tuition paid by international students is unregulated, and will therefore be unaffected.

At the same time, the Government announced significant changes to need-based financial aid provided via the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP). Changes to OSAP include a reduction in the income threshold under which students qualify for non-repayable aid (grants), an increase in the proportion of aid provided as loans, and increases in required parental and student contributions to the cost of education. The Government stated that they would target OSAP funds to students with the greatest financial need, distributing a larger proportion of grant funding to students with family incomes of less than $50,000.

These changes are expected to reduce the overall amount of student aid payable to students, including the University's regulatory obligation to cover any unmet financial need as defined by OSAP under the Student Access Guarantee. However, the University remains firm in our internal access guarantee – that financial circumstances should not stand in the way of a qualified student entering or completing their degree.

Tuition Revenue and Student Aid

The proposed budget for 2019-20 includes incremental, for-credit tuition fee revenue of $56 million. This reflects the net impact of updated international and domestic enrolment plans, a 10% reduction in domestic tuition fees, and a 5.4% average increase in international tuition fees. With no increase in per-student operating grant revenue for 2019-20, new tuition revenues are critically necessary to fund investments in programs and services across academic and shared service divisions.

The impact of a domestic tuition fee reduction will have a differential impact on each division, depending on program mix and divisional revenue sources. Professional programs in health science fields are among those that will experience the most significant reduction. Adjustments to divisional budgets will differ based on local priorities, but will include some combination of changes to faculty and staff hiring plans, deferral of capital projects, service reductions, and operating cost efficiencies. Given the modest rate of revenue growth in 2019-20, investments in new initiatives will be constrained.

Within the limited envelope of new funding available, budget priorities in academic divisions include hiring of tenure and teaching stream faculty; strengthening commitments to equity and diversity in faculty hiring and student recruitment; responding to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada; enhancing international student services; investing in research infrastructure; and expanding experiential learning opportunities and international experiences. New tuition revenues from international enrolments will continue to support a significant investment in services to ensure a high-quality experience and the success of our international students.

The University continues to monitor the impact of tuition fees to ensure that enrolment is unaffected, as required by the University's Fee Policy. In recent years, the University's Enrolment Reports have consistently shown that demand for University programs continues to be very strong and undergraduate entering averages continue to rise across all three campuses.

Undergraduate and graduate students at the University of Toronto have access to a wide range of financial supports through the University in addition to those available through government loan and grant programs like the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP). Some are based on need, and others on measures of merit, such as academic achievement or leadership. There are supports for international and Canadian students as well as dedicated supports for students with disabilities.

The University of Toronto's Policy on Student Financial Support sets out the principle that students should have access to the resources that will enable them to meet their financial needs, as determined through the same methodology used by the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP), with appropriate modifications as determined by the Vice-Provost, Students, and the University Registrar in consultation with the academic divisions of the University.

The University's primary mechanism for providing need-based aid to OSAP-eligible direct-entry undergraduate students is the University of Toronto Advance Planning for Students (known as UTAPS) program. Need-based aid for students in second entry and professional master's programs is administered in divisionally-run programs, allowing for a more individualized and nuanced approach to providing assistance. Divisional programs are supported where necessary by access to an institutionally-negotiated line of credit.

The concept of "net tuition" is an important one. Net tuition is defined as the tuition paid by a student after deducting non-repayable financial aid. It does not take into account student loans. Universities and the provincial government provide significant amounts of financial support to reduce the stated cost of tuition and to ensure that academically qualified students have the resources they need to attend university. Analysis of the impact of student financial support on the tuition rates actually paid by our students in 2016-17 shows that the average OSAP-eligible undergraduate pays only 43% of the posted tuition fee. Average net tuition for the OSAP-eligible population of students in direct-entry undergraduate programs is 41%.

In 2018-19, the University implemented net tuition billing for first year, direct-entry undergraduate students. Essentially this means that students who qualify for OSAP are billed for what they actually owe after OSAP funding and institutional aid has been deducted from their total costs.

University of Toronto Fee Level Commitment

The University's Tuition Fee Policy (Appendix A1) states that in establishing the tuition fee schedule, a commitment will be made to each student upon entry as to the level of fees to be charged over the normal course of the full-time program of study. Beginning in 1998-99, the University of Toronto made a commitment to students in its fee schedules guaranteeing that, unless otherwise noted, no student continuing in a program will be subject to a fee increase of more than 5% per year. This policy remains in effect regardless of the provincial tuition framework in place at any given point in time. For students in the doctoral stream, the commitment is in effect for two years at the Master's level and for four years at the doctoral level. For students who participate in a Professional Experience Year or in co-op programs as part of their undergraduate program, the normal length of full-time study increases by one year. For undergraduate students entering the University via an International Foundation Program, the normal length of study also increases by one year. The normal length of a program will be determined each year and posted on the University's website.

The 10% reduction in tuition levels for 2019-20 and freeze at that level for 2020-21 as noted above applies to all domestic students, including continuing students. Tuition fee increases for continuing full-time domestic students will comply with the new framework.

Tuition Fee Structures

Program Fees and Course Fees

Full-time undergraduate student fees are levied in one of two ways: program fees or course fees. Under a program fee structure, students pay a single fee for study classified as full-time for fee purposes. Under a course fee structure, students pay a fee for each course in which they are registered. Most University of Toronto programs collect fees under the program fee model.

Programs with higher fees in upper years

In some undergraduate programs, students are admitted after completing one or more years of study in arts and science courses. During the initial year(s), students pay general arts and science tuition; upon admission to the program, students pay a higher tuition fee in upper years. This structure reflects the move from a general program to an upper-year specialized program. These programs include: Commerce; Business Administration; Management; Computer Science; Bioinformatics; Data Science; UTM Visual Studies; Communication, Culture and Information Technology (CCIT); Interactive Digital Media; and the new undergraduate program in Information.

Bachelor of Information (BI) students will complete the equivalent of two years of full-time study at the undergraduate level in any discipline before transferring into the BI program. Once registered in the BI program, students will pay the same tuition as Computer Science students.

Programs with fees set at beginning of program (Cohort Fees)

There are a few programs in which tuition fees are set at the point of entry to the program, and are held constant for students in the cohort as they progress through the program. These programs include the MD/PhD, the Morning & Evening MBA (3-year), the MEng (extended full-time option), the MFC (extended full-time option), and the MHI Executive Stream. The tuition fees given in Appendix B for these programs will apply to all years of the program for the 2019-20 entering cohort. The fees for the 2017-18 and 2018-19 entering cohorts will be reduced by 10% in 2019-20 to comply with the new Tuition Framework. Effective 2017-18, students in the MD/PhD program after Year 8 will be charged the prevailing doctoral stream tuition rates. There was a one-time-only reduction to the international MD/PhD fees in 2018-19 for all cohorts to reflect the reduction in the international PhD tuition rate in that year.

Combined, Double Degree, and Dual Degree Program Fees

The University has an increasing number of combined program offerings, and has begun to develop both double degree and dual degree programs. In order to improve communications with potential applicants and existing students, Schedules B4 & C4 provide detailed information on fees for these programs. The proposed fees by year of study for almost all cases are based on the fees for constituent programs proposed in Schedules B1, B3, C1 & C3.

Partial Fees

Many students at the University of Toronto are charged partial fees primarily based on the tuition fee for full-time study. The following formulas guide the derivation of partial fees:

1. When computing a partial fee, the respective fee for full-time study is the tuition fee for either domestic or international students, depending on the status of the student.
2. Part-time fees for undergraduate programs are equal to the full-time fees pro-rated on a per-course basis relative to full-time course load.
 - a. In programs for which tuition fees are levied on a course-by-course basis, the course tuition fee is the tuition fee for the program divided by the normal course load for full-time study.
 - b. Part-time domestic MD Extended Clerkship students will be charged a domestic program fee of $3,445 per term. It is anticipated that most students will register in the Summer and Fall terms. No international students are expected.
 - c. Part-time domestic PharmD for Pharmacists students will be charged $2,191.46 per half course in 2019-20 while part-time international rate for this program will be $4,933.08 per half course.
3. Part-time fees for graduate programs are normally set at 30% of the full-time annual fee, with the exception of the Nursing Post-Masters Nurse Practitioner and Medicine Graduate Health Research diploma programs.
 - a. The Nursing Post-Masters Nurse Practitioner Diploma program is offered on a part-time basis over 20 consecutive months. Domestic students will pay $8,580 and international students will pay $21,570 in 2019-20.
 - b. The Medicine Graduate Diploma in Health Research is available to MD students. A domestic part-time per-term fee of $1,582.50 will be charged during 2019-20 whenever such students are registered in the diploma program. The international part-time per-term fee will be $4,474.50 for 2019-20.

4. Because of the minimum costs incurred for registration in any program, no tuition fee in 2019-20, after refunds in the case of full withdrawal from the University, shall be less than $286.

Conjoint Programs with the Toronto School of Theology

In accordance with the revised Memorandum of Agreement between the University of Toronto and the Toronto School of Theology, proposed tuition fees for the conjoint undergraduate and graduate programs are forwarded to the Business Board for review and approval annually.

Schedules B3 and C3 include the proposed tuition fees for the conjoint programs with the Toronto School of Theology: basic degree programs, DMIN, ThD, ThM, PhD, and the MA in Theological Studies. Tuition fees for the non-conjoint programs are not included and are approved by the TST Board of Trustee's Committee of Representing Members (CORM) since these are not University of Toronto programs.

Tuition Fees for Domestic Students

The University's Tuition Fee Policy states that public funding should be supplemented as necessary to offer students an educational experience of a quality that ranks with that of the finest public research universities in the world. Furthermore, it calls for a differentiated fee structure in which tuition fees reflect individual program goals, resource requirements, program costs, etc.

Tuition fees therefore differ by program. Appendix B shows the proposed tuition fees for domestic students, by program, and by entering cohort where necessary. For the purposes of this report, direct-entry undergraduate programs are programs of study into which a student may be admitted directly from high school (e.g., Engineering, Arts and Science, Architecture, Music). Second-entry undergraduate programs are programs of study that require a student to have some university preparation before admission to the program (e.g., Law JD, Medicine MD, and Nursing BScN).

Students in Architecture, Landscape & Design, Music, Kinesiology and Physical Education, and Arts & Science programs at all three campuses will pay a tuition fee of $6,100. Students in Applied Science and Engineering will pay a tuition fee of $14,180. Transitional Year Program (TYP) students in the regular program will pay $5,170 while TYP students in the extended program will be charged $2,570. Tuition fees for second-entry programs are set to meet the more intensive resource requirements of these programs.

For clarity, and to ensure that students are properly informed at the time they enter the University, tuition fees for students entering second year of the Commerce, Business Administration, Management, Computer Science, Data Science, Bioinformatics, UTM Visual Studies, Communication, Culture and Information Technology (CCIT), and Interactive Digital Media programs in 2018-19, 2019-20 and 2020-21 are provided separately in Schedule B2.

Students in the 2019 entering cohort will be moving to second year of these programs in 2020-21. Second year tuition fees in 2020-21 will be frozen at the level of 2019-20 second year tuition fees for each of these programs. Students admitted to the new Bachelor of Information program in Fall 2019 will pay the same tuition as Computer Science students. Approval of the tuition schedule proposed in this report will constitute an approval of the second year tuition in these programs for 2020-21 as well as 2019-20. Tuition fees in 2020-21 for all other programs and years of study will be submitted to Governing Council for approval in Spring 2020.

Tuition fees for domestic students in second entry and graduate programs will be reduced by 10% for 2019-20, consistent with the new Provincial tuition framework.

Tuition Fees for International Students

The University of Toronto is committed to maintaining and strengthening its international enrolment as expressed in the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students given in Appendix A2. The University has invested in, and will continue to invest in, services to enhance the success of our international students. The proposed tuition fee schedule for international students is in Appendix C. International fees are set at a level to more closely reflect the true cost of educating students, whereas revenue from grants and tuition fees for domestic students remains well below the true cost.

In many programs, the University of Toronto's 2018-19 tuition fees for international undergraduates were at or near the highest amongst our Canadian U15 peers; compared to US peer institutions our international fees remain toward the top of the comparator range before the exchange rate is considered. This is appropriate given the University of Toronto's place in the international rankings and international student enrolment remains very strong.

A comparison of 2018-19 Arts & Science undergraduate tuition is a useful example. The University of Toronto Arts & Science international undergraduate tuition and fees of $51,273 CAD ($41,018 USD)¹ was the highest amongst the U15. Tuition and fees for undergraduate out-of-state Arts & Science students for AAU public universities in the United States ranged from $23,392 to $49,350 USD, with a mean of $34,759 USD. Private institutions' fees remain considerably higher at $47,400 to $59,400 USD. Over the last five years, Canadian dollar exchange rates have been favourable to students from key international markets such as China, India, South Korea, Hong Kong and the United States.

The University carefully monitors applications, offers, yields and entering averages. Applications continue to rise each year while yield rates for most programs are stable or increasing; entering averages are also increasing across all three campuses. That is, the University continues to attract high quality students in ever greater numbers.

Tuition increases for students entering the tri-campus Arts & Science programs will increase by 7% in 2019-20. Tuition increases for students entering Applied Science and Engineering programs will also increase by 7%. Most other entering and continuing students will see 5% increases. Tuition fee increases for continuing international students will increase by no more than 5%. The weighted average undergraduate international tuition fee increase in 2019-20 is 5.4%.

Tuition fees for students entering second year of the Commerce, Business Administration, Management, Computer Science, Bioinformatics, UTM Visual Studies, Communication, Culture and Information Technology (CCIT), and Interactive Digital Media programs in 2019-20 will increase by 7%, revised downward from the 9% increase reported for information as part of the 2018-19 tuition fee schedule.

Students in the 2019 entering cohort will be moving to second year in 2020-21. The proposed increase for second year in 2020-21 is 7% over the 2019-20 second-year cohort for each of these programs (Schedule C2). Students in the new Bachelor of Information program will pay the same tuition as Computer Science students.

Since 2018-19, most international PhD students at the University of Toronto pay tuition fees equivalent to those of domestic students. The fee for international students that pay the standard domestic SGS fee will be lowered by 10% from $6,900 to $6,210 for 2019-20 for doctoral students in all years of study consistent with the new Provincial tuition framework.

Tuition fees for international students in research-stream master's, professional master's, and professional doctoral programs are not subject to the new framework. Tuition fee increases for entering students in professional master's programs will range from 2.5% to 10% depending upon the resource requirements of the program and the level of the tuition fee relative to competing programs. Tuition fees for incoming students in the EdD and DMA programs will increase by 5% for 2019-20. The weighted average tuition fee increase for graduate international students (excluding international PhD students paying domestic rates) in 2019-20 is 4.5%.

The tables in Appendix C also include proposed international tuition fees for 2020-21. In most cases, tuition will increase by 5%. For a few programs, increases ranging between 2% to 4% are proposed based on competitive recruitment environments, while for other programs, increases greater than 5% for incoming students are needed to cover resource requirements. These fees will be brought forward for Governing Council approval next year. They are included in this report to provide potential applicants with information regarding preliminary tuition fee levels for planning purposes

Schedule C4 includes the international fees for students in combined, double degree or dual degree programs. Most combined programs do not currently have international students enrolled. In the event that they do in future, international tuition fees would be charged following the same practices as outlined in the domestic Schedule B4.

Appendix A1: Tuition Fee Policy

The University of Toronto's tuition fee policy should reflect its mission as an internationally significant, public research university with undergraduate, graduate and professional programs of excellent quality. Such a goal assumes an appropriate level of funding which, for a public university, means principal support from the Provincial and Federal Governments, and from endowment funds as well as tuition fees. It also assumes the existence of programs of student aid to maintain the accessibility of the University to students of varying financial means. The effect of this policy should be neutral with regard to enrolment levels, which will be determined from time to time through the University's planning processes. Our tuition fee policy has five elements:

1. Advocacy. In making the case for public policies strongly supportive of an accessible public system of university education, the University will continue to advocate ongoing and substantial public investment in the university sector.
2. Fee Revenue. The University of Toronto will continue to be a public university, for which ongoing and substantial support from government will always be essential. The basic principle of the tuition policy is that public funding should be supplemented as can be demonstrated to be necessary to offer students an educational experience of a quality that ranks with that of the finest public research universities in the world.
3. Fee Differentiation. The University should continue to move toward a more differentiated structure of fees across programs. In setting fees for each particular program, the following factors will be taken into account:
 - Fees should take into account the plans and aspirations of each academic division, and the level of resources necessary to achieve high program quality.
 - Program costs should be taken into account in setting fees.
 - Fees should be set at a level that is competitive with programs of similar quality in institutions with which we compete or expect to compete for students.
 - Fee levels should be relatively higher in programs for which the future income prospects of graduates are relatively higher.
 - Fee levels should reflect a justifiable balance across public and private sources of revenue per student.
 - Fee policy should allow for intentional, disproportionate public subsidies and intra-university cross-subsidies, where a case for cross-subsidization can be made.

In bringing forward the tuition fee schedule each time, the administration shall provide an explanation taking account of the above factors.

4. Fee Level Commitment. The tuition fee schedule will include a commitment to be made to each student upon entry as to the level of fees to be charged over the normal course of the full-time program of study.
5. Monitoring. In presenting the annual Report on Enrolment, the Vice-President and Provost shall include commentary regarding the effects, if any, of changes in tuition fees upon changes in enrolment.

Appendix A2: Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students

Preamble

International students are an essential feature of the University of Toronto's participation in international scholarship. They contribute to the international character of the University's research, and provide opportunities for the international exchange of knowledge through its teaching programs. The presence of outstanding students from all parts of the world in the University's undergraduate and graduate, professional, and research programs, helps to achieve the excellence the University seeks to assure for all its activities. On the University's campuses international students also make an important and positive contribution to the cultural life of the community and create lasting relationships of benefit to individuals as well as to the institution and the country generally. And finally, by enrolling international students, the University of Toronto, as an internationally significant university, has an opportunity to share its educational resources with other countries whose institutions are still evolving.

In light of these considerations, the Governing Council has adopted the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students that commits the University to enrolling a broad mix of international students in its programs, and that articulates the basic principles that will guide their admission to the University, arrangements for their financial support, right of access to academic courses and programs, and the provision of services to address their particular needs.

This Statement of Commitment applies to University of Toronto students in university degree, diploma and certificate programs who are not Canadian citizens, permanent residents, or convention refugees.

Statement of Principles

1. Within the Framework of divisional academic plans, the University of Toronto welcomes international students into all of its programs.
2. The admission of international students will be consistent with the Policies and Principles for Admission to the University of Toronto approved by the Governing Council in 1991.
3. The University will broaden and strengthen its recruiting efforts abroad.
4. Once admitted to the University, international students will have access to the same range of courses and support services on the same basis as other students.

Financial Support

1. International students who are admitted and enrolled may encounter financial emergencies and the University will provide financial assistance as needed and where possible.
2. The University will develop a program of international admission scholarships using its own resources and support from external sources to be awarded on the basis of exceptional academic merit and financial need.
3. The Report of the Vice-Provost, Students on Student Financial Support, submitted annually to governance for information, will include data on the support provided to international students.

	Master of Theology (ThM), Half Course Fee	$1,044	$939	$939
Notes:
1)	Tuition fee increases for domestic students are maintained at the maximum limits established under the Tuition Fee Framework (-10% for 2019-20, 0% for 2020-21) or by internal commitments (maximum of 5% for 2021-22 onwards) for the normal length of a full-time program. The normal length of program is two to five years. Students who exceed the normal length of their program will be charged the same tuition as students in the final year of that program.
2)	Tuition fee rates for each year noted above are effective May 1st. For example, the tuition fees for 2019-20 commence in the Summer 2019 session.
5)	TST Basic Degree Program students who entered prior to 2012 will be charged slightly lower fees than the posted 2012 cohort rate for 2019-20 based on the grandparenting rules that existed at their date of entry and compliant with the annual increase limits allowed by the Tuition Framework. TST's objective by 2020-21 is to simplify/collapse its fee structure such that all students are charged the same rate.
