(AP&P Terms of Reference, Section 4.3)

GOVERNANCE PATH:

1. University of Toronto Scarborough Academic Affairs Committee [For recommendation] (February 6, 2025)
2. Committee of Academic Policy and Programs [For Approval] (February 13, 2025)

PREVIOUS ACTION TAKEN:

Amendments to the Policy on Transfer of Course Credits were approved on May 23, 2024 by Academic Board.

HIGHLIGHTS:

This is a proposal to change the undergraduate academic regulations at the University of Toronto Scarborough pertaining to permitted transfer credit.

The change removes the option for students to apply for “Post-Admission Transfer Credit,” following the completion of an offering outside the University of Toronto. It will also clarify that courses taken elsewhere must be pre-approved via the Letter of Permission or via the University’s Study Abroad or other approved processes. As well, regulation language is being revised to clarify that students should be taking courses at the University of Toronto and that the granting of Letters of Permission will only be for reasons where a course cannot be taken at the University of Toronto.

The change responds to recent amendments of the University’s Policy on Transfer of Course Credits. This Policy that established the principles that: post-admission transfer credit opportunities for courses administered by a third-party organization would not be eligible for transfer credit consideration and; post-admission transfer credit for online courses completed at another recognized institution will only be considered for transfer credit with prior approval from a students’ home academic division.

This change will ensure that students can accurately plan, both academically and financially, for program and degree completion by removing the current post-admission transfer credit application as an option and granting transfer credit only on the basis of courses pre-approved by means of a Letter of Permission.

The change will create alignment with the Faculty of Arts & Science (FAS), the John H. Daniels Faculty of Architecture, Landscape, and Design (Daniels) and the University of Toronto Mississauga (UTM) who are making similar changes to their transfer credit policies.

The change is effective for all new and in progress students.

Consultation outside the Faculty of Arts and Science has taken place with the University of Toronto Mississauga (UTM); University of Toronto Scarborough (UTSC) and the John H. Daniels Faculty of Architecture, Landscape, and Design (Daniels). All divisions were supportive of the change.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS:

Any new financial obligations resulting from this change will be met at the divisional level.

RECOMMENDATION:

Be It Resolved:

THAT the proposed changes to University of Toronto Scarborough academic regulations, as described in the proposal from the University of Toronto Scarborough dated January 23, 2025, be approved effective September 1, 2025.

Summary

This is a proposal to amend the academic regulations as they are described in the Courses at Other Universities \(Letters of Permission and Transfer Credit\) section of the academic Calendar, as follows:

1. Remove the option for students to apply for “Post-Admission Transfer Credit,” and clarify that courses taken elsewhere must be pre-approved via the Letter of Permission or via the University’s Study Abroad or other approved processes. Currently, students may request transfer credit after courses have been completed at non-Canadian universities.
2. Revise policy language to clarify that students should be taking courses at the University of Toronto and that the granting of Letters of Permission will only be for reasons where a course cannot be taken at the University of Toronto.

In 2023, following discussions with the three Arts and Science divisions, the University Registrar’s Office, in collaboration with academic units initiated a review of the university’s Policy on Transfer of Course Credits. As a result of the review, several amendments were approved in May 2024. Changes include a requirement for prior approval for transfer credit consideration for online courses and a restriction on transfer credit for courses credits offered by private third-party providers. Divisions including the University of Toronto Scarborough are now incorporating these changes and are seeking to increase alignment across the Faculty of Arts & Science (FAS), the John H. Daniels Faculty of Architecture, Landscape, and Design (Daniels) and the University of Toronto Mississauga (UTM).

Implementation

Upon University governance approval, the change will be implemented through the following means:

- UTSC Academic Calendar: this change will be included on the ‘New for 2025-26’ web page aimed at highlighting any new program, policy and regulation changes. The 2025-26 UTSC Academic Calendar will take effect as of September 1, 2025.
- UTSC Admissions & Student Recruitment website: a notice announcing the removal of the option for students to apply for Post-Admission Transfer Credit effective September 1, 2025 will be posted on the Transfer Credits web pages to ensure students are notified as promptly as possible in assisting their course and program planning. Summer 2025 will be the final term in which a student may take a course and request Post-Admission Transfer Credit. The deadline to request Post-Admission Transfer Credit from Summer 2025 is September 30, 2025.
- UTSC’s Transfer Credit and Letter of Permission application system: instructions and guidelines contained in this application system will also be updated to note the removal of the option for students to apply for Post-Admission Transfer Credit effective September 1, 2025, and to reinforce the message that students should be taking courses at the University of Toronto and that the granting of Letters of Permission will only be for reasons where a course cannot be taken at the University of Toronto.
- Communications to academic units and other UTSC offices: these stakeholders will be notified in writing of the academic regulation change to keep academic advisors and departmental leadership and administrators informed. These colleagues will be asked to direct questions from students to the Office of the Registrar.

Rationale

Over the past several years, UTSC, FAS, and UTM have observed an increase in the overall number of post-admission transfer credit applications. In many cases, students who were expecting to use transfer credit granted for these courses toward program and/or degree completion have seen their transfer credit applications be denied, resulting in them not only incurring a financial loss for these courses but also needing to complete additional courses for which they may not have been planning, either academically or financially.

Number of UTSC Students Requesting Post-Admission Transfer Credit (PATC)

Year	Number of Requests
2021	380
2022	548
2023	269

(some students requested multiple courses)

Course offerings within and outside of Canada have broadened, including offerings by third-party organizations on behalf of host universities, institutions, and programs that do not meet the University of Toronto's requirements for granting transfer credit. The decline in post-admission transfer credit in 2023 is a result of third-party offerings being restricted. One of the requirements for courses to be eligible for U of T Scarborough transfer credit is that they must be developed, assessed, and delivered by recognized institutions. While the language around Letters of Permission and post-admission transfer credit has always suggested that students should be taking courses at U of T, the enforcement of this expectation has been inconsistent. It is the desire of this policy change to reinforce to students that courses should be taken at U of T. In addition, this policy change relates to recent amendments made to the University's Policy on the Transfer of Course Credits, which takes into consideration alternative modes of course delivery and the proliferation of private third-party course credit providers.

The Letter of Permission process, through which courses are pre-assessed for transfer credit eligibility and pre-approved as applicable, allows students to know in advance of completing courses at a recognized institution whether they are eligible for transfer credit, and if so, for which credits and how many. The current post-admission transfer credit process relies upon students submitting their final transcripts for transfer credit assessment only after they have already completed the courses. Most of our peer universities grant transfer credit for current students only through exchange or letter of permission processes. Post-admission transfer credit practices are not common.

The proposal to remove the current post-admission transfer credit process and grant transfer credit only for courses pre-approved by means of a Letter of Permission ensures that students can accurately plan, both academically and financially, for program and degree completion. Additionally, the approach will preserve revenue streams for the university.

Students who can demonstrate the need to take a course outside of U of T will be considered for a Letter of Permission approval on a case-by-case basis.

Resource Implications

Resources will be part of the regular Academic Calendar production process, which is overseen by the Office of the Vice-Principal Academic and Dean. Resources required to communicate changes to stakeholders as well as implement changes to the different UTSC websites and systems will be supported by the Office of the Registrar. Future phases of the transfer credit system project will allow for efficiency in processing Letters of Permission (LOP) and transparency for students to know what courses may be accepted.
