PREVIOUS ACTION TAKEN:

HIGHLIGHTS:

In accordance with the Policy on Recognition of Student Groups, this is a report on administrative decisions to grant, deny, or withdraw recognition for groups based at UTSC for the 2024-25 academic year. There are 281 groups listed in this report that have been granted recognition from a total of 306 applications received (comprising new and returning groups). No student groups were denied recognition and no groups have had recognition withdrawn.

Membership data provided in this report show that the cumulative number of UTSC members of all recognized student groups is 6,043 and the average number of UTSC members per student group is 22.

This is the first year that student group recognition will expire on July 31 instead of September 30. This amendment to the Tri-Campus Guidelines on the Recognition of Campus Groups was made to better support student group leadership transitions, to align with timelines associated with the Co-Curricular Record, and to grant recognition to student groups to ensure they are able to participate and support orientation programming and recruitment activities that accompanies the return to campus as the University transitions from the summer to the fall academic session.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS:

There are no financial implications for the University's operating budget.

RECOMMENDATION:

This report is provided for information.

- University of Toronto Scarborough Recognized Student Groups, 2024-25

Subject: UTSC Recognized Student Groups, 2024-25

The size and diversity of the student community on the UTSC campus provides an extraordinary number of opportunities for students to participate in a vast array of activities undertaken by student organizations. Participation in these groups forms an integral part of the student experience. Student organizations contribute, in a variety of ways, to the educational, intellectual, recreational, social, and cultural life of the University of Toronto community. For many students, involvement in voluntary student groups is not only a traditional part of campus life; it forms a significant component of their learning while at the University.

Many recognized student organizations engage in co-curricular activities that enrich the participation of their members in their own academic programs. Involvement in a student group can also provide significant learning opportunities for students with respect to leadership, civic and community engagement, and organizational capacity. Since many student organizations address the complex issues of the world around us, engagement in a student group can often provide important opportunities to be exposed to different ideas and perspectives. This helps the University provide meaningful opportunities for debate and dissent, and to foster the development of students' understanding of difference. Finally, participation in student groups provides one means by which students integrate and engage with small communities within the University of Toronto.

At UTSC, the staff in the Student Groups Portfolio run multiple orientation sessions to help student group leaders transition successfully into their roles and to understand UTSC resources and processes for student-led programs. Additionally, staff run weekly Club Hub drop-in sessions where student group leaders have their questions answered and brainstorm problems face-to-face; these sessions also give the staff the chance to get to know the student group leaders.

This year, the Student Groups Portfolio also expanded their student group leadership training offerings to include a Clubs Leadership Retreat in August and transition workshops on leadership turnover and mitigating conflict.

In accordance with the University's Policy on the Recognition of Student Groups (the Policy), this is a report on administrative decisions to grant, deny, or withdraw recognition for student groups based on the UTSC campus for the 2024-25 academic year. The student groups listed below have been granted recognition until July 31, 2025.

This is the first year that student group recognition will expire on July 31 instead of September 30. This amendment to the Tri-Campus Guidelines on the Recognition of Campus Groups was made to better support student group leadership transitions, to align with timelines associated with the Co-Curricular Record, and to grant recognition to student groups well in advance of the very active period of orientation programming and recruitment activities that accompanies the return to campus as the University transitions from the summer to the fall academic session.

Recognition of student groups by the University provides several benefits and opportunities:

1. the right to use the name of the University in the name of the group and in conjunction with group activities;
2. eligibility to use University facilities and meeting spaces at no cost or at a lower cost compared to external organizations;
3. eligibility to apply for temporary office space;
4. listings in select University directories as a University-recognized student group;
5. verification letters confirming recognition status (sometimes required by banks and other external organizations); and
6. access to other University services and resources made available from time to time.

A student organization seeking recognition must submit an annual application to Student Life Programs along with a copy of group's constitution. The constitution outlines the group's purpose, objectives, and procedures. It addresses organizational structure, membership, meetings, the election or appointment of members in leadership positions, amendments to the constitution, and rules of conduct. A commitment to democracy and accountability to members should also be reflected.

Full membership in a recognized student group (including eligibility to vote and serve in a leadership position) must be open to any currently registered University of Toronto student from any division. While discriminatory membership practices are not allowed, it is acknowledged that certain groups could well be homogeneous in nature without being discriminatory. Status as non-voting members may be extended to other University community members or interested persons from outside the University.

Groups seeking recognition by the University must be genuine student organizations and generally non-profit in nature. A recognized student group cannot be controlled by any external body. However, many organizations are affiliated with provincial, national, or international bodies and other external groups.

Under the terms of the Policy, the University will not attempt to censor, control or interfere with any group on the basis of its philosophy, beliefs, interests or opinions expressed unless and until these lead to activities which are illegal or which infringe the rights and freedoms of others within the community. By the same token, recognition as a student group implies neither endorsement of a group's beliefs or philosophy, nor the assumption of legal liability for the group's activities.

Please note that, pursuant to the Policy, the recognition of student groups which draw their membership from only one academic division is delegated to the governance body of that division.

It is important to note that there are hundreds of additional clubs, many athletics and recreation activities, Hart House clubs and committees, as well as recognized student groups based on other campuses which, while not listed here, add significantly to the educational, intellectual, recreational, social, and cultural life of the U of T community. In addition, many students are involved in student governments, college and faculty student societies, academic societies, course unions, and departmental student associations.
