AGENDA ITEM: 5(b)

ITEM IDENTIFICATION:

JURISDICTIONAL INFORMATION:

The Business Board recommends the schedule of tuition fees to Governing Council for approval.

PREVIOUS ACTION TAKEN:

The Report on Student Financial Support has been reported to the Committee on Academic Policy and Programs on March 1, 2011.

The Enrolment Report has been reported to the Planning and Budget Committee on March 2, 2011.

The Tuition Fee Schedule for Publicly-Funded Programs for 2011-12 was approved by Business Board on March 7, 2011.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Tuition fees at the University of Toronto are determined in accordance with the University's Tuition Fee Policy, the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students and the Provincial Government's Tuition Framework. The tuition fee policy speaks to five elements: advocacy, fee revenue, fee differentiation, fee level commitment and monitoring. In presenting this tuition schedule, the University reaffirms its commitment to student aid and to guaranteeing accessibility, which states:

"No student offered admission to a program at the University of Toronto should be unable to enter or complete the program due to lack of financial means."

The University's Tuition Fee Policy and Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students define the principles that should guide changes to tuition fees.

The Provincial Government implemented a Tuition Framework for 2006-07 through to 2009-10. The Framework was later extended for two additional years, 2010-11 and 2011-12, along with some improvements to OSAP funding. Under the Framework, tuition fees for domestic students are regulated and increases are allowed subject to accessibility guarantees. The modifications to the OSAP program relieve some of the financial pressure on universities but nonetheless the burden for maintaining accessibility has increasingly shifted to the University. The framework does not mandate a specific amount to be set aside by universities for student aid. Instead, it requires universities to ensure accessibility, regardless of the students' financial means.

Under the Tuition Framework, tuition fees for entering students in Arts and Science and selected other undergraduate programs may increase by a maximum of 4.5%. Tuition fees for entering students in graduate and high-cost professional programs may be increased by a maximum of 8%. Increases in tuition fees for continuing students in any program may not exceed 4%. Overall, the average increase in tuition for all students in any institution may not exceed 5%.

The University of Toronto Tuition Fee Report for 2011-12, including a complete fee schedule, is attached. It has been designed in accordance with the University's policy on tuition, our clear objective of maintaining excellence in all programs and the Government's Tuition Framework.

Domestic Tuition Fees

The increase in tuition fees in 2011-12 for most domestic programs will be 4.5% for entering students and 4% for continuing students. Tuition for all doctoral stream graduate programs will increase by 4%. Tuition for many professional undergraduate and graduate programs will rise by 8%, because of the resource requirements of these programs. Full details on tuition in all programs are given in the report.

There are some programs in which students move from a first-year general program to a more resource-intensive upper-year specialized program (Commerce, Business Administration, Management, Computer Science, Bioinformatics, Communication, Culture and Information Technology (CCIT), and Visual Studies.)

Students pay the Arts and Science fee in first year and then a higher fee in the upper years of these programs. Second Year tuition in these programs for 2011-12 was listed and approved in last year's tuition report so as to provide advance notice to first-year students considering these second-year entry programs. The tuition schedules for these programs for both 2011-12 and 2012-13 are described clearly in the report and are given in a separate table. To ensure that students are properly informed at the time they enter the University in September 2011, the Business Board is being asked to approve the tuition schedule for Second Year of these programs for a two-year period. For these programs, the Government's maximum limit of 8% applies to Second Year tuition.

The average tuition fee increase for all domestic students in the University is 4.31%. This is within the maximum of 5% allowed by the Government's Tuition Framework. About 94% of domestic students will experience fee increases of 4.5% or less. About 61% percent of domestic students will experience fee increases of $250 or less.

International Tuition Fees

Tuition for continuing students in most programs will increase by 5% relative to 2010-11.

Tuition fees for entering students will increase by 10% for the following programs: undergraduate Applied Science and Engineering, tri-campus Arts & Science, OISE/UT, and Nursing, as well as some Professional Masters graduate programs

Tuition fees for Second Year Commerce/BBA will increase by 8% while Second Year Management and Second Year Bioinformatics, Computer Science, CCIT and Visual Studies will increase by 10%.

Tuition fees for entering students in UTM programs will increase by either 8% (DIFA, MBIotech, MMI, MScBMC) or 12% (MMPA).

Tuition fees for entering students in all other programs will increase by 5%.

Across almost all programs, the University's 2010-11 international tuition fees remain below the average tuition fees of the AAU public universities

In order to provide potential applicants with information regarding tuition fee levels, the attached schedule also includes proposed tuition fees for international students in 2012-13.

Comparison of tuition fees to other jurisdictions

Domestic and international tuition fees are monitored relative to peer institutions within Canada and internationally and results continue to indicate that we remain competitive. Student applications and yield rates are also monitored each year across all programs to ensure that that tuition fees are not adversely impacting the University's commitment to high academic standards. Applications from international students across all programs remain very strong, and in fact are increasing each year. The University also continues to attract high quality domestic students in ever greater numbers.

Consultation Process

The annual process for setting tuition fees runs over a period of several months. This year the process was facilitated by the extension of the Provincial Tuition Fee Framework to include 2011-12. So in all conversations with student groups and with academic administrators, there was explicit clarity about proposed tuition fee increases.

The first stage of consultation and discussion on tuition fees was held as part of the annual academic and budget review process, which occurred between October and early December 2011. As part of this planning process, leading to the annual budget review meeting with the Provost (and a committee comprised of vice provosts, government relations and planning staff), deans were asked to indicate their plans for undergraduate and graduate, domestic and international tuition fees for the following year. Planning and Budget staff also worked with divisional staff to review tuition fee proposals and to provide policy and planning advice. Proposals were discussed by the Provost's committee, with consideration given to the Provincial Tuition Fee Framework, student demand for programs, comparison to other programs in Ontario, Canada and internationally, advocacy and campaign initiatives for raising additional student aid funding and, finally, revenue generation. Discussions also considered the impact on the University's commitment to meet its own policy on student access and student aid, as well as the provincial Student Access Guarantee (SAG)

Principals and Deans were then consulted as a body in early December 2010 and asked to submit their plans for domestic and international tuition fee levels for 2011-12. They were also asked to communicate decisions on international tuition fees and tuition fees for programs with higher fees starting in second year (e.g. Commerce and Computer Science) for 2012-13, as the University provides students with an additional year's notification in these situations.

The Provost, in her regular meetings with UTSU, GSU, and the Provost's Undergraduate Student Advisory Committee, had many conversations over the course of these months about how this year's tuition increases would follow the tuition framework: that is, would be more or less the same as the increases seen last year.

Tuition fee decisions and student aid funding were then incorporated into the University's budget and long range guidelines and the tuition fee schedules were compiled. An information session on tuition, enrolment and budget was held in early February for Governing Council governors, including of course, our student governors. Final reports were submitted to Business Board and Academic Board (budget only) for approval in March, leading up to final submission to Governing Council in April.

FINANCIAL AND/OR PLANNING IMPLICATIONS:

The proposed tuition schedule will increase tuition revenue in 2011-12 by $66.0M. This is the total increase due to the combined effect of the increase in tuition levels and increases in enrolment. In contrast, the total projected increase in provincial grant revenue is $32M relative to 2010-11. There is no per student increase in grant revenue other than for medical students.

The additional $66M in new revenue will be used to fund student aid, services for international students, faculty complement and divisional priorities.

RECOMMENDATION:

The Business Board recommends to Governing Council

THAT the Tuition Fee Schedule for Publicly-Funded Programs in 2011-12 as described in the attached report and the tuition fees in 2011-12 and 2012-13 for the special programs identified in Tables B2 and C2 of Appendices B & C of the report be approved.

Tuition Fee Schedule for Publicly Funded Programs

Tuition Fees at the University of Toronto

Tuition fees at the University of Toronto are determined in accordance with the University's Tuition Fee Policy, the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students and the Provincial Government's Tuition Framework. In presenting this tuition schedule, the University reaffirms its commitment to student aid and to guaranteeing accessibility, which states:

"No student offered admission to a program at the University of Toronto should be unable to enter or complete the program due to lack of financial means."

The University's Tuition Fee Policy and Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students (Appendix A) define the principles that should guide changes to tuition fees.

The Provincial Government implemented a Tuition Framework for 2006-07 through to 2009-10. The Framework was later extended for two additional years, 2010-11 and 2011-12, along with some improvements to OSAP funding. Under the Framework, tuition fees for domestic students are regulated and increases allowed subject to accessibility guarantees. The modifications to the OSAP program relieve some of the financial pressure on universities but nonetheless the burden for maintaining accessibility has increasingly shifted to the University. The framework does not mandate a specific amount to be set aside by universities for student aid. Instead, it requires universities to ensure accessibility, regardless of the students' financial means.

Under the Tuition Framework, tuition fees for entering students in Arts and Science and selected other undergraduate programs may increase by a maximum of 4.5%. Tuition fees for entering students in graduate and high-cost professional programs may be increased by a maximum of 8%. Increases in tuition fees for continuing students in any program may not exceed 4%. Overall, the average increase in tuition for all students in any institution may not exceed 5%.

Tuition revenues increase annually as a result of higher enrolments, increased domestic tuition fees, and increased international tuition fees. Each year the University draws down tuition revenues for bursary support for domestic students. New tuition revenues from international enrolments require significant investment in services to ensure a high-quality experience and the success of our international students. New tuition revenues from graduate students, both domestic and international, come at significant cost once graduate student funding packages and other supports are taken into consideration. That is, doctoral stream tuition increases are often a net zero, or even a loss, for students in their first five years, once graduate student funding packages and other supports are taken into consideration.

The total proposed increase in tuition revenue in 2011-12 is $66M. Of this, the increase resulting from proposed increases in tuition fees is $53.4M, of which about $33M is international. The remaining $12.6M of new revenue is projected due to the flow-through of enrolment increases and previously approved tuition increases as students move to upper years of their programs.

Significant increased expenditures are planned for next year, including allocations to student aid and increased faculty complement, enhancements to maintain program quality and to meet academic priorities. Expenditures in 2011-12 are projected to rise by approximately $108M. New revenues are needed both from tuition fees and from government grants to minimize the impact of these cost increases on programs.

The University continues to monitor the impact of tuition fee increases on enrolment to ensure that enrolment is unaffected by tuition, as required by the University's Fee Policy. In recent years, the University's Enrolment Report has consistently shown that demand for University programs continues to be very strong and, indeed, we are seeing increased pressure for spaces in programs across the University.

The University also reports annually on student financial support, outlining expenditures on need-based student aid, support for international, graduate and part-time students as well as other forms of merit-based funding. The Annual Report on Student Financial Support for 2009-10 will accompany this Tuition Fee report through the governance process.

Models for Assessing Tuition Fees

Program Fees and Course Fees

Full-time undergraduate student fees are levied in one of two ways: program fees or course fees. Under a program fee structure, students pay a single fee for study classified as full-time for fee purposes. Under a course fee structure, students pay a fee for each course in which they are registered. Most University of Toronto programs collect fees under the program fee model (for instance, Applied Science and Engineering, Music, Commerce and Physical Health and Education and Faculty of Arts and Science.) The latter is a relatively new program fee starting with the 2009 cohort. In the Faculty of Arts and Science (FAS) a grandparenting provision was applied to previous in-program students who will continue to be charged on a per-course fee basis until 2013-14.

The program fee was applied to students with a course load of 4.0, 5.0 or 6.0 full course equivalents (FCEs) for 2009-10 and 2010-11. Beginning in September 2011 all students who entered the University in September 2009 or later, who are taking 3.0 to 6.0 FCEs, will be charged on a program fee basis. The approval to move to a program fee structure in FAS was subject to the understanding that the model would be monitored, with reporting to the Faculty of Arts and Science Council and Governing Council. A committee appointed by the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science has been charged with monitoring the results of implementing the program fee. The Program Fee Monitoring Committee includes undergraduate students, faculty members, and registrars. The preliminary findings of the committee were presented to the FAS Chairs, Principals and Academic Directors (CPAD) on February 16, 2011 and will be presented to the FAS Faculty Council on March 7, 2011. The Program Fee Monitoring Committee Report will be presented to the FAS Faculty Council on April 11, 2011 and to Governing Council, for information, on May 19, 2011.

Programs with fees set at beginning of program (Cohort Fees)

There are a few programs in which tuition fees are set for the duration of the program at the point of entry and remain the same for all years of the program. These programs include the MD/PhD and the MBA 3-Year. The tuition fees given in Appendix B for these programs will apply to all years of the program for the 2011-12 entering cohort.

Tuition Fees for Domestic Students

The University's Fee Policy states that public funding be supplemented as necessary to offer students an educational experience of a quality that ranks with that of the finest public research universities in the world. Appendix B shows the proposed tuition fees for domestic students, by program and entering cohort. This schedule is applicable to students entering the University in May 2011 or later. According to this schedule, and consistent with the Fee Policy and the Provincial Framework, tuition fees will increase by an average of 4.31% for domestic students, which is well below the 5% maximum stipulated by the Framework.

The following are the main features of the proposed tuition fee schedule for domestic students in 2011-12. Full details are given in Appendix B. Fee increases are not the same for all programs, consistent with the University's Fee Policy which calls for a differentiated fee structure. According to this Policy, tuition fees should reflect individual program goals, resource requirements, program costs, etc.

Entering Domestic Students – Undergraduate

Tuition fees for students entering first year in most undergraduate programs will increase by 4.5% relative to the 2010-11 levels. Students entering first year in 2011-12 in Arts and Science programs, at all three campuses, Music and Physical Health and Education will pay a tuition fee of $5,450. Students entering Applied Science and engineering will pay a tuition fee of $10,903.

Tuition fees for the programs in Table 1 have been set to meet the special needs and circumstances of these programs, specifically more intensive resource requirements, and therefore increases for entering students are higher than 4.5%. Most students moving into year 2 of these programs will continue to see tuition rise at 4%.

Pharmacy: PharmD	$34,776	5%
Pharmacy: BScPharm	$13,884	8%
Engineering: BASc	$10,903	8%
Dentistry: DDS	$28,485	8%
Law: JD	$25,389	8%

Entering Domestic Students – Graduate

Tuition fees for most graduate programs will rise by 4%. Tuition fees for some Professional Master’s and diploma programs have more resource-intensive program structures and therefore will increase by 8%, as seen in Table 2.

Program	Year 1 Tuition
Master of Engineering	$10,295
Master of Engineering, ADMI Course Fee	$2,700
Master of Health Science in Clinical Biomedical Engineering	$9,545
Master of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, Urban Design	$8,775
Master of Financial Economics	$23,454
Master of Global Affairs	$16,200
Master of Public Policy	$13,605
Master of Science in Applied Computing	$12,960
Master of Environmental Science	$9,463
Diploma in Forensic Accounting	$12,343
Master of Biotechnology	$13,638
Master of Science in Biomedical Communication	$9,191
Master of Management Innovation	$24,929
Law, LLM & MSL	$7,150
Master of Business Administration – 2 Year	$39,672
Master of Business Administration – 3 Year	$26,976
Master of Finance	$37,413
Music Mus.M.	$7,967
Master of Nursing	$9,374

Continuing Domestic Students – Undergraduate and Graduate

Fee increases for most students continuing in their programs have been limited to 4% as per the Government’s Tuition Framework.

Tuition fees for the programs in Table 1 have been set to meet the special needs and circumstances of these programs, with more intensive resource requirements, and therefore increases for entering students are higher than 4.5%. Most students moving into year 2 of these programs will continue to see tuition rise at 4%.

Entering Domestic Students – Medicine MD

The Faculty of Medicine proposes that fees for students entering the MD program will increase by 3%, to $18,977.

Programs with higher fees in upper year

In some undergraduate programs students pay the Arts and Science fee in the first year and a higher fee starting in second year. This structure reflects the move from a first-year general program to a second-year specialized program. These programs include: Commerce, Business Administration, Management, Computer Science, Bioinformatics, Communication, Culture and Information Technology (CCIT), and Visual Studies.

Tuition recommendations for students entering second year for the above programs in 2011-12 were approved as part of the 2010-11 Tuition Fee schedule—8% increases for each of them.

Students in the 2011 entering cohort will be moving to second year in 2012-13. The proposed increase for second year in 2012-13 is 8% for each of these programs over the 2011-12 second-year cohort.

For clarity and to ensure that students are properly informed at the time they enter the University, tuition fees in second year of these programs are given separately in Table B2 of Appendix B for 2010-11, 2011-12 and 2012-13. Approval of the tuition schedule proposed in this report will constitute an approval of second year tuition in these programs for 2011-12 as well as 2012-13. Tuition fees in 2012-13 for all other programs and years of study will be submitted to Governing Council for approval in the spring of 2012, as per usual practice.

Domestic tuition fee comparisons

Domestic tuition fees at the University of Toronto remain competitive with peer institutions. A comparison of Arts and Science undergraduate tuition is a useful example. Arts and Science domestic undergraduate tuition (including fees) at the University of Toronto ($6,263) is close to the median tuition of our Canadian G13 peers (range of $5,253-$7,196.) Tuition fees are predicted to rise to £9000 (~$14,000 Cdn.) next year for undergraduate domestic students at the research-intensive English universities. Tuition fees for undergraduate in-state students for the AAU public universities in the United States ranged last year from $15,000 to $37,000 US, with a mean of $26,000. Domestic tuition fees at the University of Toronto thus remain not only competitive but, in fact, of good value when compared to other jurisdictions.

The University carefully monitors applications, offers and yields and applications and yield rates continue to rise each year. That is, the University continues to attract high quality students in ever greater numbers.

Tuition Fees for International Students

The University of Toronto is committed to maintaining and strengthening its international enrolment as expressed in the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students given in Appendix A. The University has invested in, and will continue to invest in, services to enhance the success of our international students. The proposed tuition fee schedule for international students is given in Appendix C.

Tuition increases for entering students have been limited to 5% in most programs. However, due to higher resource requirements, tuition fees will increase by 8-12% in the programs listed in Table 3. The University's 2010-11 international fees for undergraduate Arts and Science and Applied Science and Engineering were higher than our G13 peers, however demand from international students remains strong. International fees for Commerce, Medicine (MD) are close to the median of our G13 peers. The University's 2011-12 international tuition fees in most programs remain well below the average tuition fees of the AAU public universities.

OISE/UT: BEd, CTEP	10%
Engineering: BASc, MEng, MHSc Clinical Biomed Engin	10%
Nursing: BScN, MN	10%
UTSC: MEnvSci	10%
Architecture: MARC, MLA, MUD	10%
UTM: Master of Science in Biomedical Comm.	8%
UTM: Master of Biotechnology	8%
UTM: Diploma in Forensic Accounting	8%
UTM: Master of Management Information	8%
Arts &amp; Science: BBA &amp; BCOM	8%
UTM: Master of Management in Public Accounting	12%
PharmD (to equalize with its domestic rate)	7.5%

Tuition fees for all continuing students will increase by 5%, except in programs with cohort fees, as noted in the section above. Tuition fees for international students entering the Information Museum studies MMST program will increase by 6%. Tuition fees for all other entering undergraduate and graduate students will increase by 5%.

Similar to the structure for domestic fees, the tuition fee structure for several undergraduate programs is such that students pay higher fees in upper years of the program, starting in Second Year. These include: Commerce, Business Administration, Management, Computer Science, Bioinformatics, Communication, Culture and Information Technology (CCIT), and Visual Studies. Tuition recommendations for students entering Second Year of these programs in 2011-12 were approved as part of the 2010-11 Tuition Fee schedule.

Tuition Fee Increases for 2012-13

The tables in Appendix C show the proposed international tuition fees for 2012-13. In most cases, tuition will increase by 5%. For some programs, further increases beyond 5% are needed to cover resource requirements. These fees will be brought forward for Governing Council approval next year. They are included in this report to provide potential applicants with information regarding proposed tuition fee levels.

The Rotman School of Management is proposing to maintain its 2012-13 international tuition fees for the MBA and Master of Finance programs at the 2011-12 level.

International tuition fee comparisons

International tuition fees at the University of Toronto remain competitive with peer institutions. Once again, a comparison of the Arts and Science undergraduate tuition is a useful example. Arts and Science international undergraduate tuition (plus fees) at the University of Toronto ($24,525) is at the top of the range of our G13 peers. International tuition fees in England are currently between £12,000-14,000 (~$19,000-$22,000 Cdn.) for undergraduate international students at comparable institutions. They are expected to remain around this level next year. Tuition fees for undergraduate out-of-state students for the AAU public universities in the United States were $25,000 US on average last year, with the private institutions' fees being considerably higher.

Fee Level Commitment

The University's Tuition Fee Policy (Appendix A) states that in establishing the tuition fee schedule, a commitment should be made to each student upon entry as to the level of fees to be charged over the normal course of the full-time program of study. Since 1998-99 the University of Toronto has made a commitment to students in its fee schedules guaranteeing that, unless otherwise noted, no student continuing in a program will be subjected to a fee increase of more than 5% per year. The commitment will last for the normal length of the full-time program of study. For students in the doctoral stream, the commitment is in effect for two years for Master's students and for four years for PhD students. For students who participate in a Professional Experience Year or in co-op programs as part of their undergraduate program, the normal length of full-time study increases by one year. The normal length of a program will be determined each year and posted on the University's website.

The Government's tuition frameworks for the period 2006-07 to 2011-12 limit tuition increases for domestic students who are continuing in their programs to 4%. Consistent with this framework, tuition fee increases for continuing full-time domestic students in publicly-funded programs have been limited to 4% in 2011-12 for the normal length of full-time study.

Partial Fees

Many students at the University of Toronto are charged partial fees based on the tuition fee for full-time study. The following formulas guide the derivation of partial fees:

1. Part-time fees for graduate programs are set at 30% of the full-time annual fee, with the exception of the Post-Masters Nurse Practitioner Diploma program, the Nursing diploma in Anaesthesia, and the Masters of Engineering Advanced Design & Manufacturing Institute (ADMI) program.
2. The Post-Masters Nurse Practitioner Diploma program is only offered on a part-time basis over 20 consecutive months. Domestic students entering the program in 2011-12 will be charged $6,605 in the first year, and a projected 4% increase to $6,869 in second year. International students will be charged $10,332 in first year and a projected 5% increase to $10,849 in second year. Domestic students entering the new diploma in Anaesthesia program in 2011-12 will be charged $13,474 and international students will be charged $21,181.
3. The MEng ADMI course fee for domestic students will be $2,700 in 2011-12, which is an 8% increase over last year. All the partner universities of the ADMI program (McMaster, Queens, Toronto, Waterloo, Western) charge the same course fee. The ADMI program does not have international students.
4. In programs for which tuition fees are levied on a course-by-course basis, the course tuition fee is the tuition fee for the program divided by the normal course load for full-time study.
5. Part-time fee for undergraduate programs is equal to the full-time fee pro-rated on a per course basis relative to full-time course load.

6. When computing a partial fee, the respective fee for full-time study is the tuition fee for either domestic or international students, depending on the status of the student.
7. Because of the minimum costs incurred for registration in any program, no tuition fee in 2011-12, after refunds in the case of full withdrawal from the University, shall be less than $225.

Appendix A: Tuition Fee Policy

The University of Toronto's tuition fee policy should reflect its mission as an internationally significant, public research university with undergraduate, graduate and professional programs of excellent quality. Such a goal assumes an appropriate level of funding which, for a public university, means principal support from the Provincial and Federal Governments, and from endowment funds as well as tuition fees. It also assumes the existence of programs of student aid to maintain the accessibility of the University to students of varying financial means. The effect of this policy should be neutral with regard to enrolment levels, which will be determined from time to time through the University's planning processes. Our tuition fee policy has five elements:

1. Advocacy. In making the case for public policies strongly supportive of an accessible public system of university education, the University will continue to advocate ongoing and substantial public investment in the university sector.
2. Fee Revenue. The University of Toronto will continue to be a public university, for which ongoing and substantial support from government will always be essential. The basic principle of the tuition policy is that public funding should be supplemented as can be demonstrated to be necessary to offer students an educational experience of a quality that ranks with that of the finest public research universities in the world.
3. Fee Differentiation. The University should continue to move toward a more differentiated structure of fees across programs. In setting fees for each particular program, the following factors will be taken into account:
  - fees should take into account the plans and aspirations of each academic division, and the level of resources necessary to achieve high program quality
  - program costs should be taken into account in setting fees.
  - fees should be set at a level that is competitive with programs of similar quality in institutions with which we compete or expect to compete for students.
  - fee levels should be relatively higher in programs for which the future income prospects of graduates are relatively higher.
  - fee levels should reflect a justifiable balance across public and private sources of revenue per student.
  - fee policy should allow for intentional, disproportionate public subsidies and intra-university cross-subsidies, where a case for cross-subsidization can be made.

In bringing forward the tuition fee schedule each time, the administration shall provide an explanation taking account of the above factors.

4. Fee Level Commitment. The tuition fee schedule will include a commitment to be made to each student upon entry as to the level of fees to be charged over the normal course of the full-time program of study.
5. Monitoring. In presenting the annual Report on Enrolment, the Vice-President and Provost shall include commentary regarding the effects, if any, of changes in tuition fees upon changes in enrolment.

Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students

Preamble

International students are an essential feature of the University of Toronto's participation in international scholarship. They contribute to the international character of the University's research, and provide opportunities for the international exchange of knowledge through its teaching programs. The presence of outstanding students from all parts of the world in the University's undergraduate and graduate, professional, and research programs, helps to achieve the excellence the University seeks to assure for all its activities. On the University's campuses international students also make an important and positive contribution to the cultural life of the community and create lasting relationships of benefit to individuals as well as to the institution and the country generally. And finally, by enrolling international students, the University of Toronto, as an internationally significant university, has an opportunity to share its educational resources with other countries whose institutions are still evolving.

In light of these considerations, the Governing Council has adopted the Statement of Commitment Regarding International Students that commits the University to enrolling a broad mix of international students in its programs, and that articulates the basic principles that will guide their admission to the University, arrangements for their financial support, right of access to academic courses and programs, and the provision of services to address their particular needs.

This Statement of Commitment applies to University of Toronto students in university degree, diploma and certificate programs who are not Canadian citizens, permanent residents, or convention refugees.

Statement of Principles

1. Within the framework of divisional academic plans, the University of Toronto welcomes international students into all of its programs.
2. The admission of international students will be consistent with the Policies and Principles for Admission to the University of Toronto approved by the Governing Council in 1991.
3. The University will broaden and strengthen its recruiting efforts abroad.
4. Once admitted to the University, international students will have access to the same range of courses and support services on the same basis as other students.

Financial Support

1. International students who are admitted and enrolled may encounter financial emergencies and the University will provide financial assistance as needed and where possible.
2. The University will develop a program of international admission scholarships using its own resources and support from external sources to be awarded on the basis of exceptional academic merit and financial need.
3. The Report of the Vice-Provost, Students on Student Financial Support, submitted annually to governance for information, will include data on the support provided to international students.
