

U of T News

FIND A TOPIC ABOUT US CONTACTS
HEADLINES

PRESIDENT DAVID NAYLOR

Note to media: right-click links below to download larger version of this image: \(JPG\).

David Naylor Installed as Fifteenth President of the University of Toronto

Professor David Naylor was installed as the 15th president of the University of Toronto at a ceremony Monday, Nov. 7, Convocation Hall, 31 King's College Circle.

Lieutenant-Governor James Bartleman and Mayor David Miller along with federal and provincial elected representatives were among those presenting greetings, along with representatives of other Ontario universities, faculty, staff, students and alumni. In his installation address Naylor outlined his vision for the university.

Formerly dean of the Faculty of Medicine and vice-provost (relations with health care institutions) at the University of Toronto, Naylor received his MD from U of T and DPhil from Oxford University where he was a Rhodes scholar in social and administrative studies. His five-year term as president officially began Oct. 1, 2005.

The ceremony was simulcast to audience locations at the University of Toronto at Mississauga (CCIT Building, Main Floor Lobby) and University of Toronto at Scarborough (Meeting Place, Science Wing), and was also available by webcast.

Find out more about the installation ceremony:

Find out more about the presidential search process

Read the Order of Ceremony

Read the President's Declaration of Office

Read the President's installation address

Find out more about the new president of the University of Toronto, David Naylor:

Read David Naylor's biography

Visit the President's website

Read a List of the Presidents of the University of Toronto

More about the University of Toronto

Download a press photo of David Naylor \(JPG\).